

Appl. No. 10/733,560
Docket No. AA554C
Amdt. dated 29 November 2007
Reply to Office Action mailed on July 31, 2007
Customer No. 27752

AMENDMENTS TO THE CLAIMS

This listing of claims will replace all prior versions, and listings, of claims in the application:

Listing of Claims:

1. (Currently Amended) A method for recommending a disposable absorbent incontinence article to be used by an incontinent person, comprising the steps of:
  - (a) providing a product recommendation system device;
  - (b) inputting information, ~~from a user~~, into the product recommendation system device about incontinence devices which are currently used by the incontinent person and information about the situation which is experienced by the user;
  - (c) ~~inputting information into the system about the situation which is experienced by the user~~;
  - (c) processing the information using the product recommendation device;
  - (d) providing output in the form of a selection of at least one disposable absorbent incontinence article from a database of predetermined disposable absorbent incontinence articles based on the information processed by the product recommendation device; and
  - (d) ~~selecting at least one article, based on the information received, among predetermined disposable absorbent incontinence articles; and~~
  - (e) ~~recommending the at least one article to the user~~;wherein the step of inputting information comprises the step of indicating a question and a plurality of possible answers for selection and inputting one or more answers to the question.
2. (Currently Amended) The method of Claim 1, wherein the step for ~~selecting at least one article~~ providing output in the form of a selection of at least one disposable absorbent incontinence article comprises the a step of selecting providing output in the form of a selection of a combination of two disposable absorbent incontinence

Appl. No. 10/733,560
Docket No. AA554C
Amdt. dated 29 November 2007
Reply to Office Action mailed on July 31, 2007
Customer No. 27752

articles, based on the information received inputted, among the predetermined disposable absorbent incontinence articles.

3. (Withdrawn) The method of Claim 1, further comprising the steps of;
(d) evaluating the quality of life of a caregiver who takes care of the incontinent person, and
(e) repeating the steps (a), (b) and (c).
4. (Cancelled)
5. (Currently Amended) The method of Claim [[4]] 1, wherein the question for the information about the user's situation is on the ability of body action of the incontinent person.
6. (Currently Amended) The method of Claim [[4]] 1, wherein the question for the information about the user's situation is on the ability of hand/finger activity of the incontinent person.
7. (Currently Amended) The method of Claim [[4]] 1, wherein the question for the information about the user's situation is on the content(s) of leakage of the incontinent person.
8. (Currently Amended) The method of Claim [[4]] 1, wherein the question for the information about the user's situation is on the availability and/or the quality of the caregiving.
9. (Currently Amended) The method of Claim [[4]] 1, wherein the question for the information about the user's situation is on the amount of urine discharged by the incontinent person for a time period specified by the user.
10. (Currently Amended) The method of Claim 1, wherein the predetermined disposable absorbent incontinence articles include at least two articles which are selected from the group consisting of a disposable taped diaper, a disposable pull-on

Appl. No. 10/733,560
Docket No. AA554C
Amdt. dated 29 November 2007
Reply to Office Action mailed on July 31, 2007
Customer No. 27752

diaper, a disposable urine incontinence pad, a disposable flat pad, a disposable ~~faecal~~ fecal collector pouch, and a disposable urine collector pouch.

11. (Withdrawn) A method for evaluating the quality of life of a caregiver who takes care of an incontinent person, comprising the steps of:
  - (a) receiving information about an average free time the caregiver can have within a day;
  - (b) receiving information about a degree of physical burden the caregiver has for taking care of the incontinent person;
  - (c) receiving information about a degree of mental burden the caregiver has for taking care of the incontinent person; and
  - (d) calculating a value of the quality of life based on the received information in accordance with a predetermined algorithm.
12. (Withdrawn) The method of Claim 11, wherein the step of receiving information comprises the step of indicating a question and a plurality of possible answers for selection.
13. (Withdrawn) The method of Claim 12, wherein the question for the information about an average free time is on how long, on average, the caregiver can be apart from the incontinent person within one day.
14. (Withdrawn) The method of Claim 12, wherein the question for the information about an average free time is on how long, on average, the caregiver can sleep continuously without being disturbed by the incontinent person within one day.
15. (Withdrawn) The method of Claim 12, wherein the question for the information about a degree of physical burden is on a physical fatigue the caregiver has.
16. (Withdrawn) The method of Claim 12, wherein the question for the information about a degree of mental burden is on an odor generated from the incontinent person, or a lack of confidence about the manner for taking care of the incontinent person.